ANTS AND MEN
INGE'S MARRIAGE IDEA
HARMONES AND YOUTH
WAR, SAYS BRIAND

By Arthur Brisbane
(Copyright 1930 By King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

ON THE ITALIAN ISLAND of Stromboli yesterday there occurred, simultaneously, a severe earthquake and a deadly eruption of the Stromboli volcano. The earthquake destroyed some small houses, burning rocks, thrown high into the air by the volcano fell upon little villages, clustered around the base of the volcano. For thousands of years Stromboli has been a deadly menace, and for thousands of years people have rebuilt their houses, and continued to dwell at the volcano's foot. And we wonder that ants rebuild when our feet crush their nests in the garden path.

DEAN INGE, RULER of St. Paul's cathedral in London, starts off clericalism with the suggestion that marriage might well be tried for periods shorter than life. The dean would allow "limited marriage contracts," and would have the government recognize them. Only "till death do us part" marriage would receive the blessing of the church.

The Reverend Dr. Mellish, of Brooklyn, replies that Rome tried two kinds of marriage centuries ago, short marriage for unimportant people, lifelong marriages for more important people, but it didn't work.

Dean Inge's suggestion can be proved unwise without dragging in the church, or "spirit." Marriage is an institution of discipline, devised to make men better, gradually. The process is slow, but it is real.

Besides, the last years of married life ought to be the best, and usually are, in spite of divorce records. To have, in old age one interested in your troubles, and your symptoms, is precious above all other possessions.

SCIENTISTS GATHERED in Cincinnati are told that new methods of rejuvenation, better than the Varonoff "gland grafting," have been discovered. Compounds made of mysterious "hormones" will do the work, some "hormones" being taken from glands that could never be transplanted.

The old may be made to live a little longer but science will never discover anything better than friendly death, which removes men worn out, and makes room for new energy.

THE LEARNED VARONOFF, who, by the use of monkey glands, extends the lives of old men, says "all Americans are dead at 50." He does not mean that they actually die, but that they are worn out at 50, and might as well be dead.

There is no doubt that men in

Boys, Girls Show Interest In Fair

Boys and girls club exhibits at the county fair at Lisbon next week probably will be larger this year than ever before.

An increase in enrollment and a higher percentage of members completing the work will boost the size of the exhibit.

It is expected that the Four-H club parade at 11 a. m. Friday will be larger than any previous year. The Lisbon school band will lead the parade.

Judging of club work will be completed on Wednesday, according to County Agent Floyd Lozer.

CITY EXTENSION REFERENDUM DENIED

Prohibition Question Not Republican Plank

PLATFORM HAS NO OPPOSITION FOR ADOPTION

Suggestions Advanced By Leaders Dropped By Wayside Soon

HOOVER, COOPER GET ENDORSEMENT

Taxes, Drought Also Are Up For Discussion At Meeting

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Sept. 12.—Without the semblance of a fight over the prohibition question, the Republican state platform convention today adopted the platform submitted by its resolutions committee. The platform did not mention specially the liquor question.

Several prominent Republicans threatened to take the prohibition question to the floor of the convention when the resolution committee refused to incorporate any mention of it in the platform. However, when the committee presented its report to the convention, no one offered a protest, and the platform was adopted without a roll call.

Platform proposals submitted by Attorney General Gilbert Bettman calling for a declaration in favor of a pre-primary convention and for four year terms for governor and all other state officials never got further than sub-committee, composed of State Chairman Edward D. Schorr, State Campaign Manager Earl B. Lewis and Homer Edwards of Ironton.

A proposal by Senator Bender for reappointment of the legislative districts also was killed in sub-committee. Bender's proposal which also was joined in by White of Toledo, contemplated reapportionment so cities would be given greater representation in the state legislature than they now have. It contained the provisions of a constitutional amendment which Bender sought to initiate but later abandoned.

The platform as adopted by the resolutions committee carries a strong endorsement of the Hoover administration reciting its enactment of farm relief legislation, the protective tariff, reduction of taxes the foreign policy and other achievements.

Other planks called for enactment of taxation laws in accordance with the classification amendment which becomes operative January 1, that will relieve real estate and home owners from the real property tax and for laws placing a "just share" of taxes on intangible property. Declaration was made against any increase in the present four cent gasoline tax.

Governor Cooper's program of drought relief for the farmers was commended along with all other acts of his administration.

Speaker Discusses Mushrooms In Talk

Mushrooms, their history and modern means of growing them, were discussed by R. W. Griswold of Ashtabula at the Kiwanis club meeting Thursday.

Griswold stated that mushrooms dated back into earliest days of history, both Biblical and modern, and traced changes in methods of their growth in Ohio and other sections of the country.

He was introduced by Ford N. Dilworth, chairman of the meeting. Wives of Kiwanians were guests at the meeting.

SEN. WHEELER TAKES STAND IN WITH WET FORCE

Montana Solon, Thought To Be Dry, Gives Definite Idea

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—Repeal of the eighteenth amendment and state control of liquor was advocated today by Senator Burton K. Wheeler, Montana Democrat, long regarded as a prohibitionist.

Wheeler is the first senator generally regarded as a dry to advocate repeal of the prohibition amendment.

He was the second prominent political leader to declare for repeal of the eighteenth amendment this week Tuesday. Gov. Roosevelt of New York, made a similar announcement.

In discussing the Roosevelt statement, Wheeler revealed his change of view to the United Press.

"Most thinking people have come to the same conclusion," Wheeler said referring to Roosevelt's conclusion. "I don't see how they could think otherwise in view of the way prohibition has worked out."

"Then you agree with him?" he was asked.

"Yes, I believe prohibition is something that should be left up to the individual states," he replied.

Although Wheeler has generally been considered in favor of prohibition, he has not been classed as a "radical dry." He voted against the Jones "five and ten" enforcement law, but usually he has supported legislation sponsored by the forces. He has consistently voted for appropriations to carry on enforcement work.

During the last session of congress, however, he made several speeches attacking enforcement of the law and demanded a senatorial investigation of enforcement methods. His colleague, Senator Walsh, is running for reelection as a dry though Montana has gone wet in two referendums.

COUNTY COMMITTEE TO TAKE DROUGHT SURVEY OVER COLUMBIANA CO.

Red Cross, Bank Loans, Freight Rates Included In Work Of County Group; Report Must Be Made To State

The state drought committee has requested the county committee to make another survey of Columbiana county to determine the actual conditions as the result of the drought.

On Tuesday Floyd Lower of Lisbon, secretary of the committee, mailed a questionnaire to six or eight farmers in each township to gather this information.

The questionnaire included the names and addresses of any farmers in need of employment or Red Cross assistance as a result of the drought, the number of farmers who will be compelled to sell livestock as a result of the drought. However, a considerable number will be compelled to buy hay.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture is collecting information on available supplies of hay which will be forwarded to those interested as soon as completed. It is also thought that the local banks will be able to take care of the credit situation. However, this information is required by the state drought committee and consequently the

W. C. T. U. FAVORS BIRTH CONTROL

Stark County Union Has Outline Of Ideas For Action

BRUSH-MOORE LEASED WIRE
CANTON, Sept. 12.—Birth control as a remedy for unemployment, Communism, crime and as a relief from burdensome taxation that is perplexing the state and nation and discouraging property owners was advocated by the Stark county W. C. T. U. at its 15th anniversary celebration here today.

The organization also went on record favoring prohibition and world peace.

The section of the resolution dealing with the organizations beliefs on birth control says:

"We believe the time is here when all Christians and reformers should study the subject of birth control as a remedy for the following lamentable conditions:

1.—Ever recurring and increasing unemployment.
2.—An alarming condition (Crime).
3.—As a remedy for Communism.

4.—As a relief from burdensome taxation that is perplexing state and national governments and discouraging home ownership.

Under the section of world peace the organizations states:

1.—We advocate that Aug. 26 the day on which the peace pact was signed, be made a national holiday.

2.—We endorse the movement for a United States of Europe and trust that our new member of the world court, Frank B. Kellogg, will support the same.

3.—We approve entrance of the United States into the world court.

4.—We pledge to study the movement for the United States to join the league of nations.

Seafaring Argument Brings Unexpected Bath To Captain

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—The warm September sun shone down on the Brooklyn waterfront and men went about their tasks lazily. Aboard the good seafaring ship, riding gently, an anchor with a cargo of bricks, the crew awaited the arrival of a tug to escort them on their voyage across the harbor to Hoboken. In the interval they turned to a topic near to the heart of seafaring men—The America's cup races.

It appeared the subject was a delicate one. Capt. Andrew Dale, besides being British, was a salt of the old school. He shared the contempt of all deepwater sailors for such "new-fangled ideas" as "zipper" booms, metal masts, and winches for raising sails. He expressed his contempt for the cup defender enterprise, which is equipped with many mechanical contrivances.

But the captain was not to be reasoned with. He passed, from a tribute to Sir Thomas Lipton and Shamrock V. into complimentary references to the American defender and her afterguard.

The crew decided to settle the relative merits of Enterprise and Shamrock once and for all. Seizing their skipper, they heaved him bodily overboard into the dark waters of Newton creek.

With the captain spluttering and gurgling in the water, authorities took a hand. A police squad, composed entirely of unsympathetic land-lubbers, arrived and dragged the captain from the water. As an afterthought, they took both skipper and crew to the police station.

PLOT BREWING IN GERMANY ON POLAND, CLAIM

Reconquest of Corridor Seen In Action Of Army Chieftains

YOUNG PLAN ALSO HELD OBJECTIVE

Alliance With Red Army Whipped As New Possibility

(By International News Service)
BERLIN, Sept. 12.—Growing alarm is sounded in German Democratic circles over alleged dark plans of certain German generals.

In their extreme form, it is charged, these plans aim at nothing less than the establishment of a military dictatorship within Germany and an alliance with the Red army of Russia for the reconquest of the Polish corridor and the mashing of the Young plan, with other corrections of the Versailles peace treaty to follow.

Such plans are vehemently denied and ridiculed by the German ministry of national defense and by the generals involved. But they hang like a threatening thundercloud over the German nation, are whispered in ever new versions from mouth to mouth and break out even in the most responsible party newspapers in open or veiled form.

Von Hindenburg Mentioned

The men mainly mentioned in connection with such plans are President Von Hindenburg, Major Oscar Von Hindenburg, the president's son and supposedly the connecting link between the president and the generals, General Curt Von Schleicher, head of the ministerial office in the ministry of national defense and the strongest man in the army, and General Curt Von Hammerstein, head of the department of Foreign troops in the ministry.

General Wilhelm Groener, present minister of national defense, who hitherto had been considered a reliable Democrat because he was the first to tell the former kaiser in 1918 that he should abdicate, is held either to have been won over or to be on the way out. Even a successor is already being mentioned for his post. He is General Hans Von Seeckt, former commander of the German army, who had to resign because under his regime the eldest son of the former crown-prince was permitted to participate in army maneuvers.

Rumors Are Basis

"It is impossible to say how much of these alleged plans is true, if anything, and how far the personalities mentioned favor them, if at all.

The rumors regarding such plans are based mainly on two developments within Germany.

First—The inability of the extreme parliamentary government in Germany to cope with the difficulties of an economic crisis.

Second—The new freedom which German foreign policy has achieved following the allied evacuation of the Rhineland.

The economic crisis is blamed on the reparations payments imposed on Germany and on the over-extension of the socialist principle in German government and German business.

Powerful industrial and political interests are determined therefore to fight back the socialistic tide if necessary by a dictatorship.

JUDGE LONES IN RULING DECREES ACTION ILLEGAL

Ordinance Should Have Been Filed With City Auditor, He Says

CITY POPULATION ESTIMATED 12,100

End Seen In Long Fight To Prevent Boundary Extension By City

A permanent injunction restraining the Columbiana county board of elections from placing the extension of Salem city limits before voters here at the November election was granted by Judge W. Frank Lones of the common pleas court in Lisbon today.

Judge Lones granted the permanent injunction following a study of evidence placed before him by City Solicitor Cecil K. Scott at a hearing held on the case in Lisbon last Monday.

His decision automatically made the extension project effective and today the city of Salem has a population estimated at about 12,100, based on the 1930 federal census.

The court based its decision on the failure of opponents to the extension to file copies of the city ordinance pertaining to the project with City Auditor Helen R. Woerther prior to their circulation of petitions among Salem residents.

A total of 719 signatures were obtained on the petitions.

"The 719 Salem residents who signed the petitions requesting a referendum vote on the extension have a right to such an election. In this case, however, proponents of the referendum failed to comply with the Ohio statutes and the state constitution," the judge stated in issuing his decision.

The court ruled that the injunction becomes permanent on agreement between Solicitor Scott and it is understood that this agreement will be filed by opposing attorneys with Judge Lones this week.

The board of elections was represented by Prosecuting Atty. John E. Banknecht at the court session this morning. No answer to the judge's ruling was filed. Township residents have the right of appeal to the court of appeals but no such action is contemplated in that the board will be unable to place the extension before Salem voters at this year's election.

According to state statutes action is contemplated in that the board will be unable to place the extension before Salem voters at this year's election.

According to state statutes action towards placing a matter on ballot by referendum must be taken 60 days prior to the election. This 60-day limit has expired.

Judge Lones' decision will in all probability mark the close of the extension case, which has appeared in county courts numerous times because of opposition to the plan by residents of the township. It was the second time the court was forced to issue a ruling opposed to the township, he having previously approved the extension when Perry residents submitted the case to him after the board of county commissioners sanctioned the project.

THE LUCKY ONES

Several years ago when Frances White was famous as the captivating dancer in the "Follies of 1916" and the "Midnight Frolics" hundreds envied her. Her ability to dance, to sing, to make a hit with the crowd marked her as one of the celebrities of the day.

The subsequent story is the same old one, but with a little variation toward the end. A few nights ago Miss White, no longer famous, no longer sought after, was arrested because she could not pay a $3.50 taxi fare. In her purse was only 30 cents and she was obliged to admit that she could raise no more than that immediately. A judge allowed her three days to raise the money and she was dismissed. Those familiar with her actions during the last year know that she has not been doing much, that she has had a nervous breakdown, that she was arrested in August in a civil action brought by a Seattle jeweler, who maintained she owed him $2,867 on purchases made four years ago. She was released on $5,000 bail on this charge.

The variation in the old story is this: The day after Miss White's detention by the police she received numbers of telephone calls offering assistance and condolence. There may even have been a call from former husband Frank Fay, whose name leads all the rest in the lights on Broadway this week. The upshot of it all was that the cab driver collected his fee, Miss White rediscovered some old friends and the newspapers had a good human interest story—almost a happy ending unless the story be continued.

Somehow or other it is hard to avoid a hard little chuckle, not about Frances White but the group made up of men and women who at some time or other have been called "the lucky ones." After all, luck is such a wily-nilly changing thing that it may be the luckiest ones of all those on whom she never bothers to bestow any more than passing favors. And that, of course, is very comfortable rationalization.

What Others Say

A Warning To Aviators
Two officials of the national air races, Major Schroeder and Major Reed Landis, both experienced fliers, emphasized in interviews in the Daily News the other day a warning which all aviators should heed. It is a warning which concerns not only the safety of the fliers themselves, but more important, the safety of the public on the ground. The recent ten days of racing, maneuvering and stunt-flying at Curtiss-Reynolds airport demonstrated the marked advance of aviation in many ways. How much it contributed to the feature of aviation that most needs development—the element of safety—is a question.

Executed by experienced pilots who have enjoyed the best possible training with machines specially built, braced and reinforced for the purpose, the most brilliant and most difficult performances in the air looked simple and easy. They looked so simple, indeed, as to be a dangerous temptation to overambitious, inexperienced fliers. Major Schroeder and Landis point out that stunts have no commercial value even when performed by specialists, and they admonish all fliers not properly trained and not provided with suitable machines against attempting them.

Even the training of stunt specialists and their specially designed planes failed in some instances at the races to avert fatalities. Friends of the dead fliers were able to point out lessons of value to aviation learned from their fate, but even that cold comfort can not be gleaned from disasters resulting from the mistakes of the poorly-prepared. Such accidents can serve only to dampen popular confidence in air travel and thus to retard the advancement of aviation.

A consideration that should be emphasized, however, is that novices who attempt aerial acrobatics, especially over or near crowds, endanger not only their own lives, but the lives of others. And there is no thrill to be had from flying that justifies incurring that danger.—Chicago News.

Daily Routine Wrecks Nerves

Most typical of the ailments of modern life are the nervous diseases. In these days we are exposed to many factors that contribute to nervousness.

These disturbances are not confined to those who live in big cities. The monotony of rural life may bring an almost intolerable condition of the nervous system. The normal body will resist these ailments, but if disease weakens it, some form of nervous disorder may appear.

To this condition the layman gives the name "nervousness." The medical profession call it "neurasthenia," "hysteria," or "nervous excitement." The doctors admit how very vague and inexact these names really are. But the term nervous excitement expresses it pretty well.

There is no certain cure for the nervousness that accompanies disease. It is really a symptom and disappears when the underlying disease is cured. Nervousness cannot be prevented except as you prevent its exciting cause or causes.

The chief symptoms of neurasthenia are inability to sleep, and fitful sleep. There is a tendency to be awake for hours. The victim falls asleep from pure exhaustion, just as it is time to get up in the morning.

The discordant distracting, grating noises of a great city are bad for the nerves. Science and the law can do much to remove them. In recent months, in some of our large cities a movement has been started toward the abatement of these disturbing noises. For instance, science is at work finding a welding process in steel construction that will do away with the din of riveting. These are steps in the right direction.

The strain on the nerves from "loud speakers" and other noises of a city are tremendous. They mean long hours of wakefulness on the part of a great many people. Such experiences are sure to undermine the health.

Worry and fear can make a man go down hill very fast. The strain and stress of modern business bring many a nervous breakdown. It requires the expenditure of too much will power to keep steady nerves under these conditions.

Nervousness comes to all ages and to both sexes, but it is more common in women and children than among men. It is most likely to occur among those who are brought up in idleness and luxury. Persons who earn their daily bread and have wholesome work to do are the better off when it comes to this test. It is a good thing to live a simple, useful and profitable life.

The victims of neurasthenia should have a change of scene in a restful place. Commensal companions, agreeable diversions, new sights and thoughts pave the way for better mental and physical health.

Normal sensible living for every man, woman and child means sound nerves and healthy bodies. Let us avoid neurasthenia by sensible regulation of habits, restriction of hours of labor and the taking of proper relaxation and rest.

Arthur McKeogh, a Troy, N. Y. boy who made good in the city. Clouds like torn wool tipped with fluffs of pink. Wonder what would happen to Lillian Gish in a windstorm? Buses to the right, autos to the left, and trolleya in front—but here I go like a cutter in the wind. And I made it!

Spit-ted geometrical canvases galleries kid us is art, the trazes! Never heard anyone use acerbity in conversation. And Rupert Hughes is the only person I ever heard use deracinate I could follow those fascinating Albino twins all day. Turn over collars with square corners again.

John W. Thomason, Jr. the writing, fighting marine. And he sketches, too. A new 5 and 10 I have not prowled through. Fred and Betsy Drake. The hat makers better do something about the bare-headed business. Howard Acton and Julius Tannen look alike. Wish I could run across yellow tomato preservers.

Monita who runs the Italian cafe in Mulberry street. Where judges and lawyers go. And who looks like an E. Phillips Oppenheim count. People from South Africa interest me. But I'm surprised when they don't carry spears. Whatever became of hand-painted coal vases.

Timid tenement tots—alliteration without a struggle—who drag kindling wagons across town. The eagle-like gaze of Max Scur, the criminal lawyer. Those alert, freshly shaven Mannies with mama complexes but quick on a speakeasy draw. Flor Zabelle, Raymond Hitchcocks wigwag.

Never knew a man to pass an open coal hole without peering down. Ask somebody: "What is a spiral stairway?" They'll do it every time. Benny Leonard grows comby, too. The Caledonia on 26th street, where O. Henry lived. In Europe they would buy the site and erect a monument.

The latest, as of Sept. 18, in speakeasy cocktails, comes from the East 59's, called "The Number"—meaning it makes you numb.

The new Waldorf, whose riveting across the way still has me nosing-thumbing it in spare time, will feature "boudoir baths"—baths 29 feet square, equipped like a miniature gymnasium.

A sixth avenue bird store has—or had—a bright freckle-faced peashooter who arrived early the other morning. Deciding as the front door was locked, it would be innocent diversion to give the birds free. One of the store, he did. Someone opened the door in midst of the fun and 200 birds winged out and upward. A window card heralds: "Boy wanted."

A frequent day dream is buying a dog shop and giving each dog a well home away from auction block stuffiness. I inquired the cost of all dogs in a shop on 48th street, was told it totaled $14,320, waved to an imaginary acquaintance outside and hoppety hopped to greet him.

I am an occasional patron of an Armenian restaurant on Washington street—reveling in native dishes. The other night passing the kitchen I pecked in for a glimpse of the cook, expecting a figure in a fez with perhaps a rug over his arm. Instead I saw a fat American neeress with a red bandana around her neck presiding over an old fashioned stove. I don't believe now there is a Dorothy Parker.

In the same cafe I met a gentleman whose hobby for 50 years is tracing the birthplace of Columbus. He is not certain it is Milan or Genoa and won't give up.

"You often," writes R. S. Dodge City, "talk about shrill winds around

The Stars Say

For Saturday, Sept. 13.

Although there is augury for some much desired success and advancement according to the sidereal operations for this day, at the same time there is shown the menace of small disappointments, delays, treachery and slander or gossip. Correspondence or important papers or writings may be involved. But the finances are well fortified and there is promise of recognition, preferment, honors and promotion for those in the employment of others.

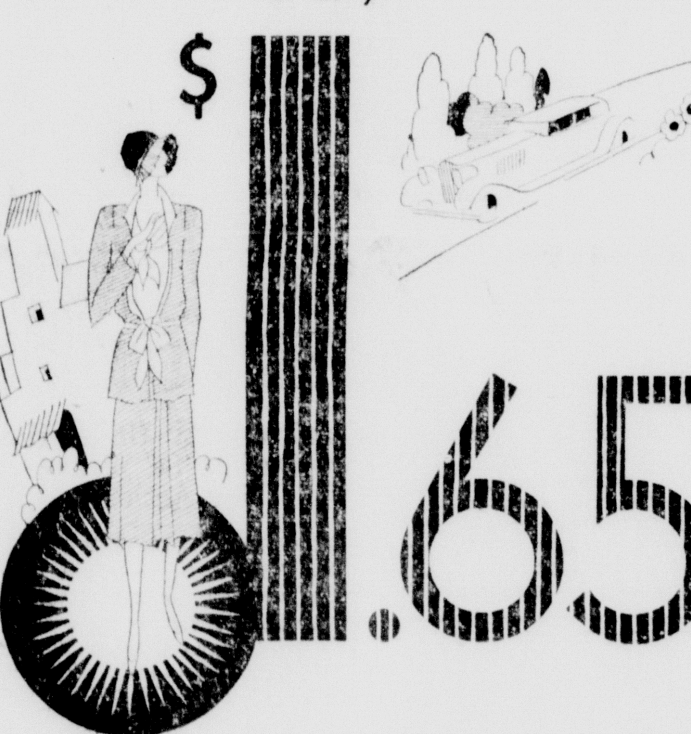

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of favors, preferment or advancement in employment, with some gain in finances, but at the same time they are enjoined to be on guard against idle rumor, slander, treachery and anxiety or delays through papers or writings. A child born on this day should be clever and accomplished and may attain a favored place with its superiors or employers, but nevertheless may suffer through slander and idle gossip or treachery.

DESTINATION OF IRIGOYEN SECRET

Mystery Surrounds Place
Where Ex-President
Will Be Landed

(By Associated Press)

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 12.—Mystery today surrounded the whereabouts of Hipolito Irigoyen, deposed Argentine president, who yesterday, ill and feeble, was placed aboard a warship at La Plata and presumably started toward a place on exile.

It was learned today that the Uruguayan consul cabled his government at Montevideo yesterday that the cruiser, General Belgrano, had sailed for Montevideo with the former president aboard.

Preparations were made in the Uruguayan capital to receive him last night, President Campisteguy delegating his secretary and other officials to meet him and make him welcome.

But the General Belgrano did not reach Montevideo. It was believed here that after leaving La Plata it merely anchored outside the harbor to await further orders, but this was a matter of speculation.

Another suggestion was that perhaps the cruiser would head for Europe, since Dr. Irigoyen yesterday told physicians he would like to spend his exile in Europe. The new President General Jose Francisco Urburu previously had expressed willingness for Irigoyen not have his way.

Dr. Irigoyen was taken from the seventieth infantry barracks at 11 a. m. with the utmost secrecy. Troops deployed in the neighborhood, kept even newspapermen away from the scene. He was understood to be convalescent from his illness, which was diagnosed as pneumonia.

FAMOUS AKRON RESIDENT DIES

AKRON, Sept. 12.—Thomas J. Brennan, 94, who was born in Ireland, fought through the Civil war, saw Lincoln shot, and once tried to free Canada with an army of 67 men, is dead here.

Brennan was one of the best known old-timers in the vicinity. He was in Ford's theatre when John Wilkes Booth shot President Lincoln. Brennan said he saw Wilkes escape and then saw Lincoln's body being carried out.

His attempt to free Canada from British rule resulted in disaster when many of his army were killed. He said he managed to get back to the States safely and never again bothered with Canadian affairs.

Business D. Pression Buried At Sea With Wife, Daughter

(By Associated Press)

NORFOLK, VA., Sept. 12.—In the depths of Chesapeake bay today rested the remains of Business D. Pression, his wife, Dame Pessionism and their daughter, Miss Fortune.

Their burial, at a mock ceremony presided over by Governor John Garland Pollard, was a feature of a good-will tour by citizens of the western shore of Virginia to the eastern shore.

It was carried out with real coffins in which reposed dummies representing the three leading factors in America's economic depression. Governor Pollard delivered the funeral oration and the burial service was read by the Rev. P. Rowland Wagner.

As Governor Pollard cast the vegetable-decked coffins overboard from the steamer Virginia Lee, anchored 20 miles off here, he said:

"Old Man Depression, Old Lady Pessionism and your unhappy daughter, Miss Fortune, the United States is no place for you. You never had any real justification to be here anyhow. You lived upon mass timidity. You were created by unjustified fears and uncertainties."

"Miserable creatures, I confine you to a watery grave. Your doom is sealed. Old Man Hard Work, Lady Optimism and little Johnny Payroll and Miss Good Fortune are here to take your place. They have already engaged your apartments. They tell me that installment credits have proved astonishingly satisfactory and that credit conditions are easy and have taken Mr. Get Busy as a permanent boarder."

"We accept your deathbed confession that you put over a bit of bad psychology on the American people. But you couldn't make it stick."

GROESBECK ASKS BALLOT RECOUNT

Defeated Candidate For Governor In Michigan
Makes Charges

(By Associated Press)

DETROIT, Sept. 12.—Alex J. Groesbeck, who was defeated for the Republican nomination for governor by Wilbur M. Brucker, attorney general, in Tuesday's primary election, announced today that he will file a petition asking for a recount of the vote in some counties of the state.

Groesbeck, who has served three times as governor of Michigan, charged that the Brucker forces, which had the support of Governor Fred W. Green, were responsible for the candidacy of Edward J. Jeffries.

Detroit municipal judge, the third man in the gubernatorial race, the purpose being to split the vote in Wayne county, the home of Groesbeck.

He also charged that misleading campaign literature was sent out by the Brucker forces in the closing days of the campaign and that a "lot of money" was poured into a number of counties by his opponent during the last days of the campaign. At the same time, the Groesbeck statement continued, they began falsely charging Mr. Cady (Burt D. Cady) of my committee with what they were doing themselves. He charged that one metropolitan daily failed to publish a denial of Cady that excessive campaign funds were spent.

GENEVA—Miss Miriam Elliott O'Brien, honorary guide, the only woman who has ever been in charge of big climbing parties, has climbed the Finsteraarhorn in the Swiss Alps, 14,026 feet high. Two other guides were with her.

Golden Rule Name Was Much Better

BEAVER, PA., Sept. 12.—'Tis such a pity that the little place on Broadhead road changed its name.

Once upon a time it was the golden rule service station. That was very, very nice. Then the name was changed to "Dew Drop Inn."

County detectives and state police did. Now the proprietor is held for court on charge of possessing beer.

Dining-room or Alcove?

Stately, symmetrical dining-rooms which were once considered an indispensable part of every living suite, are now giving way to more informal dining quarters.

All sorts of odd spaces are being transformed into dining-rooms, as it were. A large foyer with a door leading into the kitchen. A bay window. A small alcove, but large enough to accommodate any set of furniture. With the equipment selected to scale, any of these are delightful dining places. And frequently in houses large enough to contain separate dining-rooms, the "breakfast nook" is so much more cheery that the family welcomes the opportunity to have meals in the less pretentious spot.

Built-in furniture—which doesn't always mean that it's nailed to the floor—is extensively used in the small dining-alcove. It utilizes all available space, and the two high-backed benches resting against the wall will seat in comfort more persons than could be accommodated in matched chairs. But the built-in bench is also cozier than chairs, and it brightened up with gay cushions will make the corner with inadequate lighting seem sunny.

Long, narrow tables are the vogue more than ever, possibly because they can be tucked away in small space when not in use and expanded as needed. These tables may be only two feet wide or less when backed against the wall in the foyer, yet can quickly be opened to a size seating half a dozen or more comfortably. One or two benches to match and only two matching chairs take less space than the ordinary large set of chairs and table, but provide just as much room.

Once the small odd room used to be the den—now it's more likely to be the "dining alcove."

war, Italy enters on a 10 years project to build a "formidable army, ready to cope with whatever emergency."

It is no secret that France is the emergency that Mussolini and Italy have in mind.

Marconi believes that radio waves will travel off millions of miles through space. If the sun can send rays of light through 93,000,000 miles of space, there is no reason why radio waves shouldn't go as far in the other direction.

This ought to mean that we shall talk to the other planets soon, if they have any inhabitants able to talk.

PRESIDENT BUTLER, of Columbia college, says that if the Republican party in New York doesn't get wet, as the Democratic party has done, New York state will go Democratic by 500,000. On the other hand, if the Republican party does turn wet, it will beat Governor Roosevelt and the Democrats.

Prohibitionists say that Dr. Butler reminds them of an evil spirit leading the Republican party up on to a high mountain, and offering it everything in sight to turn wet.

Named Receiver

TOLEDO, Sept. 12.—C. C. Fennell of Dover, was named receiver of the Toledo, Florida and Philadelphia interurban line yesterday with bond fixed at $35,000. The receiver's application sets up that the company has failed to pay taxes. Last night services on the railroad were resumed and will continue until October 1, when the line will be abandoned.

WHILE BRIAND SAYS WAR is certain without a "United States of Europe," France has been holding elaborate army maneuvers on the Franco-German frontier. ## PEARLS FEATURE NEW NECKLACES

Parisian Style Leaders Advance New Type Of Neckwear

PARIS, Sept. 12.—"Necking it" in Paris these days means rows of pearls about the throat for they are more beautiful than ever in both single and double rows and seem to be on the top of the world in popularity. They are clasped appropriately with a small gem in a real setting and the ocean pearl is reproduced with amazing accuracy and in loveliest color.

Still another type of necklace is an original string of beautiful black wooden beads, each oblong one carved by a French artist whose design for the rather large black pendant is in the form of a mask with amusing expression.

In real silver there are huge beads and bands in a set, the giraffe, a large bracelet-like band fitted to the waistline and the earrings and necklace matching a wrist bangle of extraordinary size.

Rare gems are to be seen everywhere this spring, real diamonds, beads of the Orient, gems set in platinum and the rich sought-for pear-shaped emerald. Rare gems are to be found in the form of bag clasps nesting against a bit of old brocade or a simple piece of morocco leather.

Madame's little watch has abandoned its familiar place on the wrist and is now found fitted to the leather belt or shopping-bag. Sometimes it fits into a conveniently-made socket arranged to fit the coat lapel, at a most useful angle. Many women now have their watches in their cigarette lighters, the French "brigitte." This little article carries everything these days, including powder, lipstick, as well as petrol.

Too Much Liquor In Alliance Halls

ALLIANCE, Sept. 12.—Claiming that too much liquor is being brought into Alliance dance halls, Mayor Carl F. Hart today issued an order revoking all public dance permits.

Operators seeking new permits must enter into a "gentlemen's agreement" to provide special officers, the mayor said.

Hart also charged that minors are being permitted to frequent public dance halls and cited instances where either private individuals or bootleggers have been bringing liquor to dances.

DROUGHT SURVEY HELD IN COUNTY

survey is being made this week by the county committee.

The county committee will meet in Lisbon on Saturday night to tabulate the information collected and prepare it for submitting to the state committee. The county committee is composed of the following persons:

Homer E. Williams, deputy master of the grange; Glen Bates, pomona grange master; J. C. Pottoff, president of Columbiana County Farm bureau; Mrs. L. R. Frederick, secretary of Columbiana county Farm bureau; B. L. Flick, president of Columbiana county Bankers association; Dr. T. T. Church, county health officer; H. C. Leonard, county representative of the Red Cross; Charles H. Wolfe, freight and passenger agent of the Pennsylvania R. R. at Salem; I. C. Bean, president of Columbiana County Feed Dealers association, and Wloyd Lower, county agricultural agent.

Freight Rates Approved

Approval certificates for reduced freight rates for 31 carloads of hay and feed to be shipped into Columbiana county have been issued to date by County Agent Floyd Lower, authorized representative of the department of Agriculture, in the drought relief work.

Permits are issued to farmers and dealers under the regulations formulated by the department of agriculture. Dealers who receive permits for shipments of feed must sign a statement in which they certify that they understand the conditions under which the approval certificate for reduced rates is granted and that the commodity in the shipment will be sold to farmers rather than to other dealers. They also promise to pass the benefits accruing from the reduced rates on the farmer-consumers.

A freight rate reduction of 1-3 was granted for shipments originating west and 1-2 for those originating east of the Mississippi river. Reduction is applicable only to full carloads of hay and feed. Applicants must submit certain information before the permit can be issued including the kind of commodity, the name of the shipper, the point of origin, the railroads transporting the shipments, especially those at the points of origin and destination, the name of the consignee and destination, and the date to be shipped. About one week's time must be allowed from the date approval certificate is issued until shipment is made since the approval certificate must be filed with the local railroad agent and is then forwarded through the proper railroad authorities to the point of origin before the shipment starts.

ANCIENT TRIBES HAD SYSTEMS OF SCHOOLS, BELIEF

Study Of Yuki Indians
By Worker Reveals
Unique Facts

BERKELEY, Cal., Sept. 12.—Compulsory education was in effect in California long before the coming of the white man.

Not only elementary schools, but also high schools, were conducted by California Indians, according to discoveries announced today by the department of anthropology of the University of California.

Definite evidence of an organized school system among the aborigines was gathered by E. M. Loeb, lecturer, who followed up clues uncovered by Professor A. L. Kroeber, chairman of the department, in a study of the Yuki Indians.

Loeb gathered additional evidence with regard to the Yukis and also found similar systems among other tribes, the Kato and Wailaki, in the southern El Dorado district.

Two secret societies formed the basis for the system. In the elementary schools—attendance in which was compulsory for boys while girls were banned—subjects included ceremonial dances, rituals and songs of the old ghost dance religion.

Instruction lasted six months.

Co-education existed in the high schools, which dealt with the secret ritual of the Kukus or "Big Head" religion which all men and women doctors and prospective chiefs must know. Students had to undergo a diet in a "boarding school," which was the tribal sweat house. Meat and fish were taboo; the diet consisted of acorn syrup, seeds and a little water.

In place of a high school diploma the graduates had their ears and noses pierced.

Beer Seen As Sure Cure For Masles

LONDON, Sept. 12.—Beer is a certain cure for masles, according to grandmother's advice.

This old-fashioned English remedy was discussed at a meeting of the Wrexham Rural District Council recently, when Councillor Gorse Williams asked:

"If a child were given a pint of beer with the object of curing it, would it have a detrimental effect?"

"I should think a pint of beer would kill the child right away," declared Dr. T. C. Edwards, the Medical Officer of Health.

"Well," Councillor Williams said, "I will tell you what happened to a child of mine."

"The grandmother declared that the best thing for it was a pint of beer. The child was given a pint of beer, and it is lively and kicking today."

COLUMBIANA

William Andler of Turkey Run Inn, two miles east of Columbiana on route 14 for the past six years, has sold his business to Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Engle of Warren. Mr. Andler has not decided his future plans.

Mrs. Lewis Bowman entertained Monday Night Bridge club associates at her home, South Elm street, with three tables in play. A lunch was served following the games at one long table centered with garden flowers. Mrs. C. H. Laughlin and Mrs. R. J. Barrow were guests. Mrs. R. E. Brumgard will be the next hostess.

Mrs. Richard Orr and Mrs. William Schlag compose the social committee for the monthly meeting of the Past Grand club of Pandora Rebekah lodge who meet Thursday evening at 1 O. O. F. hall.

At the meeting of the Standard Bearers of the M. E. church Monday evening, the following officers were elected: President, Miss Sylvia Smith; vice president, Miss Mildred Mowen; secretary, Mrs. Miriam Allen; treasurer, Miss Maxine Vaughn.

Columbiana's first indoor golf course is now under construction in the case of John Buxton against Leland Ramsay.

In the foreclosure action filed by the Ohio and Pennsylvania Joint Land Bank Co., of Cleveland, O., against George Munaw and others, the court has granted the defendant leave to answer by Oct. 1.

Commissioner Named

On account of I. F. White being unable to serve in the partition action filed by Margaret Paulstick against Charles Graham and others, the court has appointed S. T. Herbert of East Liverpool as a commissioner in the place of Mr. White.

A motion to the petition has been overruled in the case of Anna Elischer against F. I. Brian. Exceptions have been entered for the defendant.

Judgment in favor of the plaintiff for $1,366.15 and costs has been entered by the court in favor of the Putters Savings & Loan Co. against Daniel Jones and others. In this case the court has found there is owing by the defendant to the Moore Furniture company $76.33; P. V. Mackall $150. A decree foreclosing the mortgage has been entered and an order of sale given by the court.

INVESTIGATION WILL CONTINUE

Chicago Business Heads Working To Quash Racketeering

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—An extortionist's bomb splashed up the opening of the grand jury's investigation of racketeering today.

Just a few hours before the inquiry was called, the family of John Valentino was blasted from sleep by a bomb explosion. His home was damaged.

Valentino, a street car company laborer, told police he had received letters threatening him with death unless he paid $5,000 to a man "who would approach him and ask for a match."

Prominent civic leaders—thirty-three of them headed by Col. A. A. Sprague—supported State's Attorney John A. Swanson, in his drive to put racketeers on the legal rack.

Henry Barrett Chamberlain, operating director of the Chicago crime commission, and Walter G. Walker, of the Employers' association, offered their files on rackets and racketeers to the grand jury today.

The evidence of Col. Robert Isham Randolph, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and John Fitzpatrick, head of the Chicago Federation of Labor, was held over until Monday.

Both Swanson and Chief Justice McGoorty of the criminal court said the investigation would continue until business was no longer a prey of the racketeer.

MOVIES

AT THE STATE

"Montana Moon"

"Ride 'em cowboy!" You'll whoop with joy when you see and hear the cavalcade of cowboys galloping over the plains in "Montana Moon," the first musical Western ever screened, which opened at the State theater with Joan Crawford in the starring role.

As the city finger who gets her man, out where the west begins, Joan is more appealing than ever before, refreshing in the out-of-door atmosphere and completely captivating in a splendid portrayal of the role. Johnny Mack Brown, who plays opposite, scores again as a consistently fine player.

Star Sings

Joan sings even more delightfully than in "Intimate" and the surprise of the picture is Johnny's voice when he sings a plaintive ballad of the plains. The music is splendidly arranged and the number sung by the cowboy chorus is something new in screen entertainment.

Film Has Catchy Songs

The music, by Nacio Herb Brown and Herbert Stothart and the lyrics by Arthur Freed and Clifford Grey, bring out such numbers as "Sing a Song of Old Montana," "Happy Cowboy," "The Moon Is Low," "Trailin' In Old Montana" and "Montana Call."

AT THE GRAND

"Condemned"

"Condemned," popular production is showing at the Grand tonight and tomorrow.

Ronald Colman's role, that of the dashing, debonair young thief who falls in love with the warden's mistreated wife, is taken from life. This character formed the central figure of Mrs. Blair Niles' book, "Condemned to Devil's Island," from which "Condemned" was adapted.

The original of this character is living now in his cell on Devil's Island and Mrs. Niles has had letters from him twice since her six months' visit of inspection two years ago, the first ever allowed by the French government to any writer.

Criminologists and sociologists the world over have acknowledged the truthful power of Mrs. Niles' book and she herself admits that Sidney Howard's adaptation of the book to the screen has not varied an inch from the truth. Even the fact that the hero does not finally succeed in escaping follows the actual fact, since, in all the history of Devil's Island, only two convicts have ever succeeded in making their way safely through the shark-infested waters and fever-haunted swamps which make it the best protected prison in the world.

One of these two convicts, the notorious Eddie Guerin, had a hand in the details of the screening of "Condemned" through a strange coincidence which put one of his best friends in the cast of the picture as one of the mob of criminals in the jail scenes. Guerin himself is, of course, well out of the way, but his reminiscences, retailed through his friend by letter, gave the director of the picture, Wesley Ruggles, a valuable check on matters which Mrs. Niles could not supply.

Divorces Delahanty

ALLIANCE, O., Sept. 12.—Youth will no longer be served in Alliance if city hall employment authorities have their way. Students who have been serving as caddies at Alliance Country club today were ousted in favor of family men, who have placed their names on the city hall employment list.

"We must, of course, find men who are still pretty active," said Safety Director F. R. Stamp.

MANIAC KILLER ESCAPES HOME

Troops, Police Searching For Man Who "Kills For God"

TRURO, NOVA SCOTIA, Sept. 12.—A maniac who considers it his duty to "kill for God" was at large today while troops and police forces sought to capture him before he might begin a campaign of wholesale slaughter.

The maniac, Otis Cupitt, escaped from the Kings County home for the insane, where he had been placed in February after it was alleged that he had lined up a dozen school children and prepared to fire on them with a shotgun. Cupitt was shouting "you have to die for God" when his plan was interrupted, officials said.

Cupitt was not armed when he escaped from the hospital, officials believed, and they therefore made every effort to apprehend him before he might procure a gun.

Provincial police were inclined to think he had headed for his home in the Hardscrabble mountains, near Wolfville, where he lived for many years. A party of officers had started for Wolfville district, while other officials watched all highways and railroad tracks in the vicinity of Truro.

Weather Outlook

COLUMBUS, Sept. 12.—Weather outlook for the 24-hour period beginning at 8 o'clock this morning.

Showers have fallen rather generally in the last 24 hours east of the Mississippi river and in the Canadian border states west of the Great Lakes; elsewhere the weather was mostly fair. Local showers occurred quite generally over southern Ohio. The temperature changes continue moderate in all parts of the country. The pressure distribution is favorable to continued unsettled weather over the Mississippi and Ohio valleys during the next 36 hours. Hence in this vicinity occasional showers may be expected tonight and Saturday with a slight change to warmer Saturday.

Admits Robbery

VAN WERT, Sept. 12.—Following a plea of guilty to robbing the Farmers Bank of Ohio City last Monday, Charles Blair, 30, of Morgantown, W. Va., yesterday was held to the grand jury under $15,000. Blair's companion, Charles Anderson, 27, Pittsburgh, was shot by the bank cashier and is recovering in a hospital. The pair were captured when Anderson's wounds forced them to a farmhouse for water.

THE DAY In Sports

CUP RACE SATURDAY

Two slender yachts, borne by white sails belling from towering masts start out on Saturday to sail until once again the question of international yachting supremacy is settled.

The America's Cup won by the yacht America from England in 1851 will be the trophy. The yachts will be the Enterprise, carrying the hopes of the United States as cup defender, a yacht built by the Vanderbilts and Aldriches, and backed by Morgans and Astors, and the Shamrock V, fifth of the Shamrock line which Sir Thomas Lipton has sent to American waters.

It is the 15th race for the cup. The last race was in 1920 when Charles Francis Adams, now secretary of the navy, sailed the Resolute to a hard victory.

For the first time since competition for the cup began, the races this year will be sailed off Newport, R. I., the seat of the social elite and the wealthy. Always before the traditional course has been off Sandy Hook. A desire to avoid congestion of small boat traffic which in the past has hampered races and the hope of fairer winds caused the change to the Newport course.

All week, society has been gathering for the premier event of a decade. Every villa is filled with guests. For weeks hotel reservations have been unobtainable. Private houses are renting rooms at hotel rates. Beginning with the first race Saturday and on until one yacht or the other proves the best, Newport will be a brilliant scene.

Both yachts have been taken from the water in the last few days, polished and shined and trimmed and fitted. The morning of the race will find them ready.

Never before has challenger and defender been so evenly matched. The challenge which Sir Thomas sent more than a year ago under the auspices of the Royal Ulster Yacht club, called for a race between boats of the 77 foot class. Official measurement of the yachts showed the Enterprise forty-two one-hundredths of an inch longer than the Shamrock overall; the Shamrock an inch and 43 hundredths longer than the Enterprise at the waterline. The sail area of the Enterprise is 16 square feet greater than that of the Shamrock. The Shamrock has a displacement of 4,779 cubic feet; the Enterprise of 4,494.

Former Fish Peddler Steals Limelight By Kayoing Leo

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—An ex-fish peddler, King Levisky, made a deep bow in big league light-heavyweight competition last night by knocking out Leo Lomski, one-time assassin from Aberdeen, Wash.

The knockout came in the fifth round of the first 10-rounder on the stadium's benefit card for little Patricia Harmon, daughter of the late Paddy Harmon, stadium builder, who was penniless at the time of his tragic death two months ago. Lomski, who never before had been knocked out, took a beating. He was knocked down six times in the first round, hit the floor three times in the second and was knocked sprawling three times in the fifth, the last time landing flat on his back.

The bout was listed as the semi-final to a 10-rounder between Billy Petrolle, the comeback "Fargo Express," and Hony Canzoneri, challenger for the lightweight title, but it completely stole the show.

Petrolle, who came out of retirement after a nine-months layoff, scrambled up the lightweight situation by gaining a referee's decision over Canzoneri after 10 mauling rounds. Canzoneri, who is scheduled to meet Al Singer, the titleholder, in New York next month, did not fare as badly, however, as Singer, who was knocked out in New York by Jimmy McLarnin in the third round.

The money of the fight trade was not quite as good as Paddy Harmon's used to be at Christmas time when he aided thousands of westside folk, but a gate of approximately $46,000 left a profit of $10,000 for Patricia, the stadium builder's four-year-old daughter. The attendance was only 13,000.

St. Louis, Brooklyn Triumph To Tighten Flag Race

Half Game Separates Two Teams From Top; New York Close Third

(By Associated Press)

St. Louis and Brooklyn again were triumphant yesterday in the National league race and placed themselves only a half game behind the leading Cubs. The Robins made a clean sweep of their three game series with Chicago as Dazzy Vance turned in a third successive five-hit performance to give Brooklyn a 2-0 victory. The Cards with Chick Hayfe's first-inning home run as the deciding factor, again defeated the Giants, 5-4.

As the Cubs moved today to the safer regins of Philadelphia and the Giants and Cards remained in New York for a final clash, the race shaped up this way:

CLUB	W.	L.	Pct.	Gms Be hind to play
Chicago	80	59	572	15
St. Louis	79	59	572	12
Brooklyn	80	60	571	12
New York	77	6	554	3

Vance fanned 13 Cubs. Hack Wilson's 48th home run of the season, a clout over the right field wall in the seventh inning gave the Cubs their first run of the series.

In the first inning Glenn Wright smashed the ball into the left field bleachers after Herman had walked to give the Robins a head start that Chicago never overcame. Guy Bush, who allowed Brooklyn only eight hits in seven innings, was the victim.

After Adams had singled and Frisch had walked in the opening inning, Hayfe of the Cards made a home run. The Giants overcame that lead in the fifth inning and made another comeback in the seventh, but they failed in their third attempt after the Cards had scored their fifth run, leaving the bases filled when the game ended.

Pittsburgh's took a tight game from the Boston Braves, 5 to 2, although they were out 11-8, while the humble Phillies made it a clean sweep against Cincinnati by slugging out a final 15 to 7 victory.

The Philadelphia Athletics had a day of idleness and a half game was presented to them by their rivals from Washington and New York. The second place Senators dropped a second straight encounter to the St. Louis Browns.

New York's Yankees all but dropped out of the race as the Cleveland Indians turned on them after two beatings and hammered out a 9 to 5 victory behind the steady pitching of Clint Brown.

Ted Lyons, veteran Chicago hurler, went 12 innings in the remaining game to win his 21st victory of the season, defeating the Boston Red Sox, 4 to 3.

Napoleon of Diamond Continues to Lead Giants

John J. McGraw, of Giants, Highest Paid
Baseball Manager in the World, Shares
Honors in Service with Connie Mack.

JOHN
& CONNIE
MACK IN

John McGraw, the most famous and successful of all big league baseball managers, has just signed a five-year contract to manage the New York Giants at $75,000 annually — the same sum a man named Herbert Hoover receives for acting as President of the United States.

With Connie Mack of the Philadelphia Athletics, McGraw has outlasted all rival managers and players. Mack has been managing the Quaker City outfit since 1901. McGraw took the helm of the famous Gotham team 25 years ago.

Under McGraw, the Giants have captured ten pennants and three world championships. Mack's Athletics have won six pennants and four world championships. Between them, Mack and McGraw have dominated the two big leagues.

When he signed for the "nth" time with the New York Nationals, McGraw's old contract had not yet expired. Dame Rumor, however, had been busy spreading the report that the Little Napoleon was through and was to be supplanted next year by Dave Bancroft.

The illustrious "Muggsy" had not been traveling with his team this last few weeks because of illness. His absence from the scenes of action started the story circulating among the fans of other cities.

For years Muggsy McGraw has been one of the most eccentric figures of the National Game. His first fights on and off the diamond and his employment of unique means of strategy to win ball games have made him a singular figure among the scores of team leaders who have come and passed since he first strode out upon the field at the New York Polo Grounds — a strapping manager.

John McGraw first attracted attention as a third baseman with the old Baltimore Orioles. He still insists that the Orioles was the greatest aggregation of ball tossers ever seen in action.

In the early part of the century two thousand dollars a year was considered a good salary for big stars. There are few, if any, recruits in the big leagues today who get less than that.

HEADLINES From the Sidelines

By DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—Joe McCarthy, who managed the Chicago Cubs to one championship last year and has them teetering back and forth in front of another this time, may not have a chance to make his play for a third in 1931.

This possibility, bandied about with some abandon during the last two weeks, had received no official confirmation by the time the Cubs left town last night but neither had it been accorded the dignity of an absolute, unqualified denial and of the two, the latter was thought to be the more significant.

Failure of the Chicago ownership to come forward and definitely sanction McCarthy's status in the face of repeated innuendoes from sources outside the club leaves possible incompatibility as a natural surmise. If the ownership was committed to McCarthy for 1931, it would sign him immediately in self-defense and to quiet the trade, it is argued; whereas, it has assumed no attitude, beyond the negative one of refusing to discuss the situation at any enlightening length.

If McCarthy doesn't return, Rogers Hornsby may become heir to another managerial tidbit although those with the Cub caravan markedly evasive on that point.

There has been no undermining, no "chisel" they say, McCarthy and Hornsby are amicable. It is added, and as for Root and Blake, who are supposed to have hired a taxicab in order to do their lighting in peace, they are referred to as being very good personal friends. The taxicab episode is denied in all its ramifications; so are the stories about discord within the ranks. Indeed I might say that the Cubs seemed to be fighting as one, instead of together, as they went down before the Dodgers for the third straight time yesterday, a circumstance that left them dangling from first place by the Goosmer thread of a half-game.

They had just blown 11 out of the last 16, they had scored only one run in 29 innings and their pitchers, barring Bush, couldn't get the side out. But they went down trying and that kind is liable to bounce indefinitely before it is absolutely prostrate. As a matter of fact, the Cubs are just an ordinary ball club, constructed with an eye to the peculiar needs of the north side grounds at Chicago and they have gone far with what they have.

However, camp opinion is to the effect that success or failure this year will have no great bearing on the McCarthy situation; that the trouble, if there is trouble, is organic, so to speak. The intimation is that the Cub ownership thinks it has a better club than it has shown itself to be, whereas, general opinion seems to indicate that, if the Cubs never go any further, they have done all the sightseeing to which their ability entitles them.

And they have done all of it under McCarthy—from last to fourth place in 1926, fourth again in 1927 and 1928, first last year and at the pace in 1930, going into the final two weeks of season.

John McGraw was the first manager to use important money as a factor in winning ball games. When he paid the then record price of $11,000 for Rube Marquard, other managers and ball magnates said he was crazy—no pitcher—particularly a left-hander was worth that much money to any team.

McGraw has had under his management some of the best players of all time. Amos Rusie, Christy Mathewson, Rogers Hornsby, Joe McGinity and Larry Doyle and many other satellites of the first magnitude took orders from "Muggsy" at one time or other in their brilliant careers.

In his direction of his team, McGraw follows one cardinal principle. Every player has to be a good soldier and do exactly as McGraw tells him. If he doesn't, the rebel soon finds himself on the roster of some other club.

McGraw has never been known as a developer of great ball players. That distinction falls to Connie Mack, the oldest veteran of the rival American league.

About 15 years ago Mack, whose real name is McGillicuddy, deliberately broke up the greatest team of modern times. With its famous $100,000 infield—Stuffy McInnis, Eddie Collins, Jack Barry and Frank (Home Run) Baker—had won four pennants in succession and annexed three world championships.

Philadelphia tired of its unmatchable skill. The Quaker City fans would not flock to the Athletics' ball park in sufficient numbers to pay the team a satisfactory profit.

Mack sold most of his stars and started to slowly build up another great team from raw recruits. It took years but the Athletics finally came through and Mack found himself again directing the destinies of a team in the world's services.

Boxer Will Display Wares In Reformatory For While

CLEVELAND, Sept. 12.—A self-styled boxer, Roly Dubinski, alias Kid Miller, 25, of Baltimore, today was to essay the role of boxing instructor at Mansfield reformatory through a jurist's decision to make the sport popular among the institution's inmates.

Dubinski arraigned before Judge Samuel Silbert, pleaded guilty to a charge of driving a stolen automobile from the Maryland city to Cleveland and stood nervously before the bar awaiting sentence.

"You're a bum, aren't you?" Judge Silbert inquired.

"No, judge, I'm a boxer," came the faint defense.

"Whom did you ever lick?" Dubinski counted off a list of alleged victims on his fingers with elaborate descriptions as to how many rounds each required and gestures of how it was done.

"Well, a good fighter like yourself is needed at Mansfield so I'll let you show the boys there how it is done for a while," said the judge.

Author Of New Book

Leonard Merrick, one of America's most widely known authors, has written a new book "A Little Dog Laughed" for publication this month.

Literary Talk

Frederick Irving Anderson obtained several of his ideas for his recently published "Book of Murder" from the exhibits at the Museum of Peaceful Arts in New York. For example, there is the "electric eye" which controls a cell sensitive only to the color the intended victim is wearing and which at the fatal moment causes a heavy object to become dislodged and fall on the head of the passer-by. Mr. Anderson has used this with considerable success in one of his stories. Those in charge of the museum justify their exhibit of such devices by saying, "Most of the murder methods suggested have equally effective uses as protectives and deterrents of crime."

The French Academy has just awarded the Montyon Literary Prize to Cleo, by M. Gaston Delany. "Mr. Lloyd George, A Study," by Sir Charles Mallet will be published on Sept. 19. Unlike most biographies, Sir Charles is not in complete sympathy with his subject. He says, "I have made no secret of my belief that the best hope for the character and independence of Liberalism in future is to dissociate itself from the political fortunes of Lloyd George." E. P. Dutton is publishing the book.

Dr. Alfred Wegener, who is at present leading an expedition of German scientists to Greenland, is the author of the book, "The Origin of Continents and Oceans," published by Dutton's. The object of the expedition is to make observations with a view to the establishment of a transatlantic airplane route.

General Von Seeckt is a candidate of the People's Party for the reichstag. This is the general's debut in active politics but he is well known for his interest in political developments. His book, "The Future of the German Empire," was recently published in this country.

George Bernard Shaw has recently endorsed Dean O'Connell's suggestion that "it might be a good thing to permit condemned murderers to commit suicide." Dr. Axel Munthe, in his "Story of San Michele," says that he would have condemned men submit to vivisection, under anesthetics, for the good of science. "The benefits to mankind would be incalculable," he says.

Katherine Alexander, who played "Hotel Universe," will have the chief part in "Stepdaughters of War," from the novel by Helen Zenna Smith, which Charles Eer skin will produce. Warren William will play opposite her.

THE HOME KITCHEN

By Jeannette Young Norton

These Handy Tubes of Food The Capsule Age, when we'll swallow three nourishing pills instead of wasting time over a six-course dinner, hasn't yet arrived, but we seem to be approaching it. For, nowadays, that row of tubes on the grocer's shelf may contain the essentials of a substantial meal. And if you want to go off on a brief camping trip, with only the minimum weight of sustenance, a pocketful of tubes will adequately fend off starvation.

Fish pastes have been available in tubes for a long time, and they are extremely convenient put up in that form. One can use as much or as little as desired, replace the cap, and the balance is as well preserved as if unopened. Anchovy, bloaters, crab, sardine, lobster, shrimp, come in tubes, and are excellent as sandwich fillings, flavoring for sauces, blending with yolk of hard-cooked egg to make stuffed eggs and additions to salad dressings.

Piquant Flavorings Mushroom, soup, meat and vegetable extracts in tubes can be used in small quantities to add flavoring to soups, sauces, salad dressings.

Sweet green peppers are regarded by many housekeepers merely as a sort of garnish. Pepper rings—thin slices cut across—are garnish for other vegetable salads or cut in little squares they add color to creamed white vegetables, like potatoes, turnips, squash, and peppers are probably used more often as casings for chopped meats, vegetables, fish than any other vegetable.

Nevertheless, they can be a pleasant vegetable dish all by themselves. And during the season, when they are abundant and low in price a dish of fresh sweet peppers is a pleasant substitute for other green vegetables. Peppers are in the same class as tomatoes, spinach, eggplant, etc.—They are watery vegetables, with little nourishment value, but highly important in vitamin content and as roughage.

Stewed Peppers
4 large peppers
1 large onion
1 large tomato
2 tablespoonsful butter
1/2 teaspoonful salt
Dash of pepper.
Remove the core and seeds, wash the peppers and place in saucepan with other ingredients. Simmer over moderate flame until tender. Other vegetables can be added to alter the flavor, but this is a basic method of preparing peppers. Yellow squash, sliced and mixed with the peppers blend very well. Also cucumbers. Shredded cabbage can be cooked separately and drained.

FOOD SUPPLIES SUFFICIENT AT SANTO DOMINGO

Relief Ships Arrive At Hurricane-Ruined City With Supplies

SANTO DOMINGO, Sept. 12.—For the first time in a week the populace of this old city today had sufficient food.

A small fleet of relief ships arriving yesterday, and trucks which finally broke through the debris from the interior of the country, brought as much food as was needed to the stricken city.

Relief crews dished out the first meals most of 10,000 or more of the populace had had since the hurricane last Wednesday afternoon blew most of the city away. There was some scrambling in the bread lines at first, but when it was realized there was enough food for all this ceased.

The same ships which brought food also brought medicines, shelter, clothing, doctors, nurses and relief workers. It would be difficult to estimate the increase in the morale of the people here as a consequence of the arrivals.

Surgical attention for the injured was greatly aided today with opening of the Roosevelt emergency tent hospital with 1,000 beds. Commander L. W. Johnson of the United States navy was placed in charge of all medical work done in the city.

Prisoners under armed guard have been put to work searching the ruins for bodies and helping in the gigantic task of resolving order out of chaos. (International News)

Water For Cleaning, Wine To Drink, Advises French Baron

PARIS, Sept. 12.—Drink wine and save water to wash in.

This is the advice of the Baron Marcel Fouquier of this city who warns against wasting water for drinking purposes.

Water for cleansing and wine for imbibing in the proper order of things, according to the Baron. Where there's a thirst there should be wine. Where there's dirt, water is sometimes efficacious.

Beware of water! adds Dr. Charles Flessinger, upholding the pronouncement of Baron Fouquier. This stuff of which the most reputable rivers and lakes are made, is not good for the human system, he states. According to his most recent researches, water drinking has been found to produce a cerebral congestion of a particular sort in those who are no longer young.

Those who quench their thirst with the juice of the grape instead of the fruit of the water faucet live longer, are wiser, and get more out of life in general, is the consensus of opinion of these learned gentlemen.

Wine furthermore induces optimism whereas water is merely depressing they agree—and any thirst which can be quenched by the latter is unworthy of the name.

The hen that lays the golden eggs must now submit to scientific methods. So decided the Parisian dressmakers recently when they hit upon a plan for opening a High School of Dressmaking, intended to give instruction to young women who have a natural penchant for the designing and making of pretty clothes.

Body Discovered

AKRON, Sept. 12.—A man and his son, picking berries yesterday found the body of a man believed to have been slain more than a week ago. The body was found under an automobile robe in the woods a short distance from the abandoned Meadowbrook country club on the Akron-Hudson road.

Several wounds, said by the owner to be knife wounds, were found through his heart.

Great joys, like griefs, are shared.

BRITISH SAILORS WORK TO ASSIST SANTO DOMINGO

Cleaning Of Debris From Streets Started; Ask
American Aid

SANTO DOMINGO, Sept. 12.—British naval detachments worked like laborers today in putting this ancient capital back on its feet. At request of President Trujillo sailors from the cruiser Danae landed yesterday to supervise cleaning of debris and refuse from the streets, thus releasing fatigued Dominican soldiers who have had almost no relief since the hurricane, Wednesday of last week. The Britons came in their white clothes and regulation helmets, but for only a little did they stand by as guards and supervisors. Their officers almost immediately put them to work aiding the general reconstruction labor. Their presence was somewhat of a novelty although in times past British naval detachments have landed to guard the legation in time of revolution. President Trujillo has asked for detachments of United States marines to aid in the reconstruction, but it was doubtful they would be sent. The British cruiser turned over all of its medical supplies above those actually needed for an emergency to the medical committee and all surplus food on board was given to the president and the American relief committee.

Gland Secretion For Control Of Complexion Discovered By Scientists; Located Near Brain

(By United Press)
CINCINNATI, Sept. 12.—Discovery of a gland secretion that appears to control pigmentation—the basis of complexion—was reported to the American Chemical Society today.

The secretion comes from the pituitary gland which lies between the roof of the mouth and the base of the brain, and which has been identified previously as producing other secretions affecting growth of the body and bones and development of sex.

The discovery was credited to Dr. C. G. MacArthur of the University of Buffalo, during the explanation of a new theory of bodily circulation by Dr. Oliver Kamm, of Parke Davis and company.

Dr. Kamm spoke at a symposium on endocrines, the secretions called hormones that come from ductless glands.

He said Dr. MacArthur has found the possibility of a third hormone in addition to two already known in the posterior lobe.

One of the three sections of the pituitary gland, it seems, said Dr. Kamm, to affect pigmentation. Pigment in skin is the principal factor in light and dark complexion.

Whatever this substance is, he said, Dr. MacArthur has shown it can be generated chemically during the destruction of the two known hormones from the same lobe.

These two were first isolated by Dr. Kamm who presented evidence that one of them controls utilization of water by body tissues. It is more important than the kidneys in this respect, he said. It links the blood and the lymph, a colorless substance that circulates slowly around or through the cells that compose living beings. It regulates flow of water to the cells and distribution of salts through the body. The salts are essentials produced from digestion of food.

Kamm said it controls constriction of certain capillary passages so that they are able to prevent sudden withdrawal of liquids from the blood and resultant drop in blood pressure.

It operates through the nerves to govern the permeability of important tissues so that the body's vital food substances are properly distributed.

WORK FINISHED ON COUNTY ROAD

Summitville Highway To Open For Traffic On September 30

SUMMITVILLE, O., Sept. 12.—Last concrete was poured on the Summitville-Kensington highway Tuesday and it is now announced by County Surveyor Lloyd C. Kirk that the road will be opened to traffic Sept. 30.

Several miles of this new highway has been built over the former right of way of the Cleveland & Pittsburgh Railroad Co., which the company deeded to the county after the railroad built a new line through Washington and Franklin townships.

The Summitville-Kensington road which taps the Lincoln highway at Kensington has been built to a width of 12 feet conforming to the width of the Salineville-Summitville road. The road was one of a number proposed when a $950,000 road improvement bond issue was approved several years ago.

This project was awarded to Harry M. Bates of Steubenville, who has also completed the construction of a three-mile concrete section on the Lisbon-Salem road, and which highway was opened to traffic last Saturday evening.

FRIENDS SCHOOL WILL NOT OPEN

Enrollment Too Small For Maintenance Of Class At Middleton

The Friends school of Middleton, which has been under the supervision of the Friends church for over a period of 75 years, will not open this fall.

It is reported that the number of pupils who are eligible to attend the school is too small to pay for the every day upkeep, and these children have enrolled in the centralized school, which began Sept. 2, with an attendance of 312 pupils in the grades and 96 in the high school.

Teachers in charge of the high school are Principal C. A. Haas, Miss Derringer, Miss Nobel and Mr. Louis Shoemaker.
